Las Vegas Management (LVM) is gearing up for their 27th annual Glass Craft & Bead Expo (GCBE) at the South Point Hotel & Casino March 29–April 2, 2023, in Las Vegas, Nevada. Around 300 artisan craft classes will be offered by more than 65 instructors. The “open to the public” Expo Hall will also boast a myriad of products, goods, and services for amateurs and professionals on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. Classes range from kilns and raw materials to handcrafted art, beads, and jewelry.

The Expo Hall also hosts the Gallery of Excellence, where prizes are awarded to amateur and professional artists. Six categories include beads and jewelry, blown and flameworked, cold worked, fused/cast/kiln worked, mosaic, and stained glass. All skill levels are encouraged to enter and have their work assessed by industry professionals, who will select first, second, and third place winners, while the People’s Choice Awards will be selected by their peers.

With thousands in attendance each year, GCBE is heralded as one of the most professional and educational art glass and bead trade events in the US. Attendees from near and far take classes, view demos, and commune with other hobbyists and artisans. GCBE has come roaring back from the pandemic to bring together the very best experts from all over the globe to demonstrate and teach the newest trending methods in hot, warm, and cold glass, as well as metal clay and jewelry making. LVM is excited to be working with exhibitors, teachers, students, and attendees to encourage, promote, and advance the glass/artisan craft community. We will push forward with perseverance and good old-fashioned blood, sweat, and tears. Thank you to all who continue to stand with us as we strive to rebuild and uplift our glass art industry.
